

2010 Media Report
Glenn Bonkowski

In the technical world we live, Emmanuel's media seems to be ever changing. 2010 brought on a whole new dimension in our media department. With the much-needed new computer and operating system, we were able to bring in better lighting, easier sound recordings and run faster programs, all on a portable media system that could adapt to the different configurations of the church.

Along with change however, our media team had a big learning curve, the new compact system had to be set up each week, now included operating lighting, share recording programs and a change from four monitors down to two. Our fantastic media team at Emmanuel consisting of Marvin Mills, Chris Lloyd and Shannon Brolund and the Antturi & Takenaka families at our Peachland campus all aided in making the whole experience easier with minimal disruptions.

Together we look forward to making the new portable system an easier way of presenting all media, lighting and recordings in a professional manner to all people, for the glory of God.
